Importing Goods to Peru

Importing Personal Effects

Shipments of used household and personal effects are dutiable, usually at a rate of 20%, while household goods previously exported from Peru can be imported duty-free. Documents required for the importation of goods will be your passport, a detailed inventory, and a legalised copy of your work permit stamped by the Ministry of Labour, if you are not a Peruvian citizen. Your local Britannia member will provide you with detailed customs regulations, and any further information you need.

If you're importing your belongings by shared load (groupage), all consignments will be bar coded before they are loaded into the shipping container. This will ensure that no items are left at origin and will allow Britannia to check the status of your goods in transit.

Transit Times

Sole use containers take on average 6-7 weeks, while crated consignments may take longer on average 7-9 weeks, but this will also depend on your final destination in Peru.

\ Any transit times provided should be considered only as a guide and cannot be guaranteed. Shipping can be subject to delays which are beyond our control.*

Documentation

Britannia will assist you to complete the customs formalities. To help us with this we will need a copy of your passport (and visa if applicable).

Our team members will supply the required documentation to you on arrival. To avoid additional charges, it is essential that documentation is completed and returned promptly.

Prohibitions and Restrictions

The following items are prohibited or restricted and we strongly advise you not to include them in your consignment:

- Firearms, ammunition & weapons
- Inflammable goods & substances
- Plants, plant material & animal products
- Foodstuffs, perishables or otherwise
- Alcohol, tobacco & narcotics
- Dangerous goods
- Objectionable, indecent and offensive material
